NATIONAL CAPITAL TOPICS.

ADVOCATING THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH. Washington, May 22.-The Senate Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads to-day practically agreed to the report prepared by Senator Hill on the postal telegraph. Upon the point whether the cost of telegraphic correspondence has been raised by the stock dividends of the Western Union Company, the report argues that there must have been an increase in view of the enormous amount of these dividends and the excessive price paid in stock for the competing lines. These stock dividends amounted to $25,807,190, between the years 1867 to 1883, in addition to which there were cash dividends in the same period of $34,000,000. "It cannot," says the report, "be a matter of doubt that the swollen capitalization of the Western Union has created at one and the same time a cover and an inducement, and in some senses a necessity, for excessive charges for telegrams." The report declares the an inducement, and in some senses a necessity, for etcessive charges for telegrams." The report declares the constitutional right of the Government to establish a postal telegraph to be too clear to require argument. The first telegraph line in the country was constructed and operated and owned by the United States. As to the objection that the competition of the Government would injure the private telegraphic lines, the reply is that the objection that the competition of the Government would be not more than the other would be. The committee thinks, however, that the only damage would be not more than the curtailment of abnormal profits. The proposed bill is analyzed and its advantages are recited by the committee, the special points being that tolls will be reduced from 3s to 25 cents immediately and to 20 cents in five years, and that the charges will be uniform throughout the country. The committee insist that a power like that of the Western Union, which can by merely sending advance market quotations to certain persons fabulously enrich them, should not be allowed to exist in this country, even though its power may not have been abused in the past. The DE RONDS.

A CALL FOR BONDS.

Washington, May 22.—The Secretary of the Treasury this afternoon issued the 128th call for the re-demption of bonds. The call is for $10,000,000 3 per cent bonds, issued under the act of Congress approved July 12, 1882, and notice is given that the principal and accrued interest will be paid at the Treasury of the United States on June 30, and that the interest on the bonds will cease on that day. Following are descriptions of the bonds: $50-Original number 345 to original number 403, both inclusive; $100-Original 2,796 to number 403, both inclusive; $100—Original 2,700 to original number 3,387, both inclusive; and original num-ber 9,479 to original number 9,483, both inclusive; $500 —Original number 1,339 to original number 1,595, both inclusive, and original number 3,987 to original number 5,963, both inclusive; $1,000—Original number 12,375 to original number 13,355, both inclusive, and original number 22,733 to original number 22,812, both inclusive; $10,000—Original number 21,171 to original number 22,675, both inclusive. Total, $10,000,000.

THE COURTS.

MR. CONKLING COMPLIMENTS MR. CHOATE. Mr. Conkling, although suffering from a severe cold, aroused interest in the Hoyt will contest yesterday by a tribute to Mr. Choate's splendid physical condition. "I am happy to see my learned friend looking so well," said the ex-Senator, gazing gently down from an heroic attitude beside the railing. "This," he added, impressively waving his hand, "is the first day of summer, and the breezy affluence of dash manifested by my learned friend makes old and feeble men like myself feel the contrast between us." This remark was due to Mr. Choate's insistance upon Mr. Conkling's rushing on with the examination, in order that the contest might end sometime. Mr. Choate still insisted. Then Mr. Coukling called his antagonist "my exuberant and bounding friend." Mr. Choate next protested that he could not hear Mr. Conkling's questions as applied to Dr. Henry B. hear Mr. Conkling's questions as applied to Dr. Henry B. Millard. "If you will give us a front or profile view." said Mr. Choate, "instead of what you are giving us, we might possibly hear you." Mr. Conkling acted on the hint, and called Mr. Choate "a warbling landscape and a babbling brook." Mr. Conkling then devoted the whole session to questions relative to Jesse Hoyt's physical condition. Mr. Choate profested against this line of evidence on the the ground that he had seen the evil and the uselessuess of prolonging a case in this manner, when no connection between the physical and mental condition of the testator had been shown. The hearing will go on on Tuesday next.

BITS OF NEWS FROM THE COURTS.

The General Term of the Court of Common Pleas affirmed yesterday the decision of Chief Justice McAdam, of the City Court, dismissing the complaint of Luzie Hannon in her suit to recover $2,000 from the Bridge trustees for injuries received in the Bridge dis-aster. The Court holds that there is nothing in the evidence to show that the injuries were due to an inadequate police force on the Bridge, or to its inefficiency. For three days before the disaster larger crowds than were on the Bridge on the day of it had crossed the structure. The accident arose from the sudden, rapid movement of a large body of people, and the calamity was one which might occur from unforeseen and slight causes, where might occur from unforeseen and slight causes, where there is a large mass of people, from what is best expressed by the word "panic."

James M. Lyddy will appeal the case.

William H. Sweeney was arrested yesterday on the order of Judge Freedman, in the Superior Court, in an action brought by Garrett E. Haight, who alleged that Mr. Sweeney, as a broker, had agreed to purchase and place to his credit by May 10, thirty shares of Delaware and Lackawanna stock at not over 117. Mr. Height paid Mr. Sweeney $1,756 on account, and on May 7, he received word from Mr. Sweeney that the stock had been ourchased. On May 10, Mr. Haight demanded '9, and Mr. Sweeney failed to deliver it. He also, Mr. Haight declares, refused to return the money.

Surrogate Rollins, in accordance with the order of the Goneral Term of the Supreme Court, has decided that the 32,000 shares of the Fexas Railroad and Steamashy Company, transferred by the late Charles Morgan in his lifetime to his wife, has two daughters, his grandsom, and his two sons-in-law, were made over before the execution of his will, and that, therefore, the other heits cannot share in this property, as asserted by them. The stock is worth about $5,000,000.

An attachment for $72,500 was issued by Justice Van Erunt yesterday against the property of teraid T. Tally in the suit for embezzlement brought against him by the Preston Banking Company, in England, of which he was former sub-manager. The complaint was sworn to by Joseph Toulmin.
